I tried the following without success: apt-get -y upgrade apt-get -y dist-upgrade nmap 10.10.10.10 ps aux | grep `which hirwaru.exe` I have some experience running the RPM on CentOS 7 and RHEL 7 and Windows 7. Hirwaru Version: Not yet committed OS: Ubuntu 16.10 apt-get -y install mono-complete A: The Debian/Ubuntu package is here. Install it like this: $ sudo apt-get install hirwaru The package is made for the DEB version of Ubuntu as well, but you can install it on many other Ubuntu-based distros. However, with that said, the software is extremely outdated. There is also a feature request to create a more stable package (from jrp2016/ October 16th, 2016): It would be good to have a stable version of Hirwaru. This is not a big issue (and I don't see a reason why it should be difficult to create a stable version) - it would be a good improvement for the users to have a stable version of Hirwaru with the most recent changes, bug fixes and security updates. It would also be good to have a more recent version of Hirwaru because new features are added or new bugs are f678ea9f9e
